DISCLOSURE ADVISORY

For the person named above, whom the People may call as a witness, please be advised of the following:

1. The New York City Police Department (NYPD) has deemed substantiated an allegation that on or about March 6, 2019, Carlos Estrella failed to properly search a department vehicle and property was found in the department vehicle.
2. The New York City Police Department (NYPD) has deemed substantiated an allegation that Carlos Estrella violated a department rule or procedure by making a rude and disrespectful comment during a traumatic incident. On October 27, 2019, EMS and the police responded after a Mobile Crisis Unit contacted them to report that a woman's son was experiencing a manic episode. The woman stated that she was upset and crying while her son was being placed in handcuffs. PO Estrella, who was at the scene, yelled at her and said, "Why don't you get his shoes and medication and make yourself useful." The woman asked PO Estrella why he spoke to her in that manner, and he responded by saying that she was doing nothing to handle the situation. His remarks were heard by other officers and EMT who told her his comments were uncalled for.
