Synopsis

On October 13, 2006, § 87(2)(b) filed a complaint with the CCRB over the phone. § 87(2)(b) alleged that at approximately 11:50 PM on October 12, 2006, she heard knocking at the door of her apartment at § 87(2)(b) in Queens. § 87(2)(b) yelled, "Who?" A voice outside said, "Police!" § 87(2)(b) got out of bed and began to put some clothing on, but the knocking continued. § 87(2)(b) said, "I didn't call the police." The voice on the other side of the door told her that there had been a 911 call about a child being assaulted and that, if she did not open the door, they would break it down. § 87(2)(b) standing behind the door, cracked it open because she was not fully dressed. She saw a white male officer who she identified as Sgt. Hayward from his badge and several other officers. Sgt. Hayward told her that there had been a call that a little boy was being assaulted inside the apartment. § 87(2)(b) told him that she had a daughter, § 87(2)(b) and that she was sleeping. Sgt. Hayward told § 87(2)(b) that he would have to come into her apartment just to make sure that her daughter was alright. § 87(2)(b) said that she was not dressed, so Sgt. Hayward told her to get dressed, but told her that she could not close the door. § 87(2)(b) covered herself and then told Sgt. Hayward that he should have a female officer come into the apartment. Sgt. Hayward said that he did not have a female officer with him at all times and that he needed to investigate the call. § 87(2)(b) told Sgt. Hayward that he could not come into the apartment, but that one of the other officers could come in. Sgt. Hayward told another officer to go into the apartment. The officer checked to make sure that § 87(2)(b) was sleeping and appeared healthy, and then left the apartment. § 87(2)(b) asked Sgt. Hayward why the officers had continually knocked at her door. He replied, "When I get a call I have to respond to it. If you don't answer your door we have to knock it down." § 87(2)(b) felt that this response was sarcastic. No officers aside from the one who checked Phantaja entered the apartment. § 87(2)(g)

§ 87(2)(b)

§ 87(2)(b) initially scheduled an appointment to be interviewed by the CCRB on November 6, 2006. § 87(2)(b) did not appear for the interview. The CCRB spoke to § 87(2)(b) again by phone on November 9, 2006, at which time she scheduled another appointment for November 13, 2006. § 87(2)(b) did not appear for this appointment. § 87(2)(g)
