Synopsis

The complaint of § 87(2)(b) was received at the CCRB via telephone on September 3, 2003 at 7:54am. At 7:30am that same day, the police (PO Rosario and PO Bletcher) came banging on the complainant's door with their flashlights, accompanied by her sister-in-law. The complainant's brother and his wife had an argument, and the wife called the police so she could get her belongings from § 87(2)(b). § 87(2)(b)'s uncle was asleep on the couch, her brother was in the room, and her daughter was asleep. She opened the door and the officers attempt to turn on her light. She told them her § 87(2)(b) old daughter was asleep, but they said that they needed to make sure no one came out with a weapon. When § 87(2)(b) went to get her brother to come to the door, PO Rosario wedged his foot in the door. She went back and asked the officer to close her door at which point he said no, and began to curse at her. She asked PO Bletcher to ask PO Rosario to remove his foot from the door, at which point PO Bletcher also put his foot in the door. The complainant went into the hallway to retrieve their badge numbers, and PO Rosario walked behind her and started to open her door. Both officers began cursing at the complainant. She obtained the identities of the officers during the course of the interaction.

On September 5, 2003, the undersigned spoke with § 87(2)(b) and arranged for an interview, which was to be held on Tuesday, September 9, 2003. It was determined during this phone call, that if the complainant were unable to attend the interview on Tuesday, she would call and notify the undersigned. The complainant/victim missed the interview on September 9, 2003, and did not call to cancel. A missed appointment letter was sent and several phone calls were made in an attempt to contact § 87(2)(b). Calls were made at various times of the day, and a "final please call" letter was mailed to the address provided during the initial complaint. In total, the complainant was called a total of seven times, but was only reached once. The phone number is a legitimate one at which the complainant has been contacted, but there is no answering machine or voicemail. Similarly, the address on record is the one provided by the complainant.
