With reference to the above-mentioned case, and pursuant to our continuing obligations, the People make the following disclosure regarding Police Officer Angelica Ring:

- The New York City Police Department substantiated an allegation that on May 31, 2013 Officer Ring while on duty, utilized her cellular telephone to conduct an identification procedure which was not authorized as official department business and Officer Ring failed to notify the department of her participation in the identification procedure when she was informed that the wrong party was arrested as a result of the identification procedure she participated in. She received a B command discipline and forfeited two days;
- The New York City Police Department substantiated an allegation that the Officer Ring violated DRV – other department rules and procedures on June 7, 2013 and was issued a B command discipline; and
- The New York City Police Department substantiated allegations that on February 5, 2018 Officer Ring made an incomplete or inaccurate property clerk invoice and invoice discrepancy – lab – marijuana. Officer Ring received an A command discipline.

The People reserve the right to move in limine to preclude reference to this information, or otherwise to object to its use or introduction into evidence during trial. Should you wish to discuss this matter, please do not hesitate to call me at [REDACTED] during office hours.

Sincerely,
