DISCLOSURE ADVISORY

For the person named above, whom the People may call as a witness, please be advised as follows.

1. The New York City Police Department (NYPD) has deemed substantiated an allegation that, on or about April 4, 2018, Anthony Arena prepared an incomplete or inaccurate property clerk invoice relating to a controlled substance resulting in an invoice-lab discrepancy.
2. The New York City Civilian Complaint Review Board (CCRB) has deemed substantiated an allegation that on November 14, 2018, Anthony Arena spoke discourteously to a civilian. Anthony Arena told the civilian, "Get your shit and get out." On November 14, 2018, Anthony Arena and his partner were dispatched to an apartment when the resident of the apartment had reported that a friend of his daughter's was in the apartment and he wanted her to leave. The resident consented to the officers' entry into the apartment and requested that they make her leave the apartment. The daughter's friend agreed to leave but requested time to gather her things. Anthony Arena stated that he made the comment because he was frustrated by the amount of time it was taking for her to leave the apartment.

Various publicly available websites and databases contain disciplinary information for certain law enforcement officers. Information in such databases about this officer is not necessarily included in this advisory.

Any information herein regarding civil lawsuits against an officer is not necessarily a complete list of civil lawsuits in which that officer is a defendant.
