Case Summary

A call was placed to § 87(2)(b) on December 9, 2013. She verified her contact information and incident details. She stated her friend, whose name she did not know but could be § 87(2)(b) and an unidentified male, whom she has seen but did not know, were also stopped and searched. § 87(2)(b) declined to pursue mediation because she did not want to see the officers again. She scheduled an interview for December 18, 2013, but called the CCRB on December 17, 2013, to reschedule for January 7, 2013. § 87(2)(b) missed that appointment. She was sent a letter via post and email in regards. A call was placed to each of her listed phone numbers as well. Her mother answered her home phone and took a message. § 87(2)(b) answered her mobile phone and her interview was rescheduled for January 10, 2013. On January 10, 2013, § 87(2)(b) emailed the CCRB, just prior to her scheduled appointment, stating that she was stuck at work, apologizing for missing the appointment, and acknowledging that she understood the complaint could be closed without a thorough investigation. A call was placed to § 87(2)(b) immediately and a voicemail was left. An email was sent to § 87(2)(b) asking her to respond via email or phone if she wished to pursue the investigation. Over the course of the subsequent three emails, an appointment was scheduled for January 16, 2013, but § 87(2)(b) missed that appointment. A search of the Department of Correction Inmate Lookup System revealed that § 87(2)(b) was not incarcerated.

A search of the Booking and Arraignment Dispositions System returned negative and no further information was provided about the two additional victims. Therefore, they could not be contacted. Between December 9, 2013, and January 16, 2013, four calls and one letter were placed to the incident location, Washington Avenue Deli. To date, the agency has not been able to reach employees at Washington Avenue Deli.

The additional victims in this complaint could not be identified via agency resources without additional information such as their names and addresses. Contact was successfully established with § 87(2)(b) numerous times but she failed to appear at the CCRB for two scheduled interviews. § 87(2)(b), § 87(2)(g)
