RE: People v. PEREZ, ALEX R
Docket Number CR-004328-19RI

With reference to the above-mentioned case, and pursuant to our continuing obligations, the People make the following disclosure: during hearing preparation with Police Officer Nikolaos Kontarinis, he indicated that during the time he has been employed by the New York City Police Department, he believed that he had been named as a defendant or co-defendant in a civil lawsuit while he was a police officer.

As a result of the conversation with the officer, on January 8, 2020, the People performed a simple name search of the Public Access to Court Electronic Records ["PACER"] website, and did not find any cases which list "Nikolaos Kontarinis" as a civil defendant, together with the "City of New York", in cases in the Eastern or Southern Districts of New York.

Further, Police Officer Nikolaos Kontarinis indicated that he has a total one (1) substantiated CCRB claim. In 2016, the allegation against Police Officer Nikolaos Kontarinis for excessive force was substantiated and no punishment was given by the NYPD.

Additionally, Police Officer Kontarinis has a total one (1) internal investigation report deemed 'information and intelligence' for an allegation of a drug test failure on December 24, 2008.

Additionally, Police Officer Kontarinis has a total one (1) Member of Service suspension for testing positive on a DOLE test conducted on November 4, 2008. Police Officer Kontarinis was suspended without pay effective January 26, 2009.

Additionally, Police Officer Kontarinis has a total one (1) internal charge for possessed and/or used an anabolic steroid or a dietary supplement which resulted in a positive test for the anabolic nandrolone. Police Officer Kontarinis plead guilty to this charge and forfeited all time, pay, and benefits while under suspension without pay from December 25, 2008,
