Case Summary

On March 12, 2018, § 87(2)(b) called the CCRB and filed this complaint, providing a cell phone number and two mailing addresses as contact information.

On April 2, 2018, the undersigned investigator called § 87(2)(b) and the cell phone number she provided was not in service. On April 2, 2018, first letters were sent to the addresses she provided.

On April 9, 2018, searches of CTS, BADS, DOC, LexisNexis, CLEAR, and DMV yielded two additional phone numbers, and three additional mailing addresses.

On April 9, 2018 and April 10, 2018, the two additional phone numbers were called. A voicemail was left at one phone number and the other phone number was not in service. On April 10, 2018, the number originally provided was called and was still not in service. On April 13, 2018, the phone numbers from the database searches were called and were still not in service. On April 13, 2018, the undersigned left a message at the one working number. A woman called back and said she was not and did not know § 87(2)(b) or any details about the incident.

On April 13, 2018, and April 19, 2018, second and third letters were sent to the originally-provided addresses and first and second letters were sent to the additional addresses. On April 24, 2018, letters from one additional address were returned by the USPS. On April 26, 2018, third letters were sent to the remaining additional addresses. No more letters were returned.

On April 9, 2018, and April 27, 2018, searches of the DOC Inmate Lookup Service confirmed § 87(2)(b) was not incarcerated.

All phone numbers found for § 87(2)(b) were either incorrect or out of service and 18 letters were mailed to the addresses provided by and found for § 87(2)(b) none of which she responded to. § 87(2)(b) has also not tried to contact the CCRB regarding this complaint. § 87(2)(g)
