Case Summary

On March 11, 2021, § 87(2)(b) filed this complaint via the CCRB website (Board Review 02). On March 17, 2021, a duplicate complaint, which he had filed via telephone with the Internal Affairs Bureau on March 6, 2020, was received from IAB (Board Review 01).

On March 5, 2020, at approximately 11:45 p.m., § 87(2)(b) parked across the street from his house at § 87(2)(b), and he exited his car and reached into the back seat to retrieve his backpack. A team of officers led by Lieutenant Forrest Hirsch of Patrol Borough Brooklyn North Public Safety drove up to § 87(2)(b). Sergeant Gabriel Cuevas allegedly asked § 87(2)(b) if he wanted cocaine or knew where to buy cocaine (Allegations A and B – Abuse of Authority: Question, § 87(2)(g) and § 87(2)(b) said no. Police Officer Nicki Canady exited the police vehicle, grabbed § 87(2)(b)'s arms, and placed him against a fence (Allegations C and D – Abuse of Authority: Stop, § 87(2)(g)). Police Officer Trimarchi searched the car's back seat without § 87(2)(b)'s consent (Allegation E and F – Abuse of Authority: Vehicle Search, § 87(2)(g)). § 87(2)(b) verbally protested the stop and attempted to wiggle his arms free from the officers' grip. Sergeant Cuevas allegedly choked § 87(2)(b) by grabbing and applying pressure to the front of his neck, and lifted § 87(2)(b) off the ground by his neck with one hand (Allegations G, H, and I – Force: Chokehold, Restricted Breathing, Physical Force, § 87(2)(g)). The officers released § 87(2)(b) without a summons. § 87(2)(b) asked Sergeant Cuevas for his name and shield number, but he allegedly did not respond (Allegations J and K – Abuse of Authority: Refusal to Provide Name/Shield Number, § 87(2)(g)). The officers did not provide any business cards to § 87(2)(b) (Allegations L and M – Abuse of Authority: Failure to Provide RTKA Card, § 87(2)(g)).

Findings and Recommendations

Allegation (A) Abuse of Authority: Lieutenant Forrest Hirsch questioned § 87(2)(b)

§ 87(2)(b) was interviewed on March 20, 2020 (Board Review 03) and provided a follow-up telephone statement on April 23, 2020 (Board Review 04). § 87(2)(b)'s girlfriend, § 87(2)(b) was interviewed on April 7, 2020 (Board Review 05). Police Officer Trimarchi (Board Review 06) and Sergeant Cuevas (Board Review 07) were interviewed on May 14, 2021. Lieutenant Hirsch was interviewed on June 24, 2021 (Board Review 08). Police Officer Canady was interviewed on August 25, 2021 (Board Review 09).

stopped next to him. § 87(2)(b) was alone and was speaking to § 87(2)(b) on the phone. Sergeant Cuevas rolled his window down and asked § 87(2)(b) where to get cocaine and if he wanted to buy cocaine. § 87(2)(b) said, “I don’t do that.”

§ 87(2)(b) stated that she was on the phone with § 87(2)(b) when she heard him say, “No, I would never do that. That’s not it.” She did not hear what § 87(2)(b) said this in response to.

None of the officers recalled speaking to § 87(2)(b) from inside the police vehicle, asking § 87(2)(b) about cocaine, or hearing any officer ask § 87(2)(b) about cocaine.

§ 87(2)(g)

Allegation (C) Abuse of Authority: Lieutenant Forrest Hirsch stopped § 87(2)(b)
Allegation (D) Abuse of Authority: Police Officer Nicki Canady stopped § 87(2)(b)
Allegation (E) Abuse of Authority: Lieutenant Forrest Hirsch searched the vehicle in which § 87(2)(b) was an occupant.
Allegation (F) Abuse of Authority: Police Officer Gregory Trimarchi searched the vehicle in which § 87(2)(b) was an occupant.

It is undisputed that Police Officer Canady exited the police vehicle and stopped § 87(2)(b) that Police Officer Trimarchi searched the back seat of § 87(2)(b)’s vehicle without his consent, and that the officers left the scene without issuing § 87(2)(b) a summons.

§ 87(2)(b) stated that after Sergeant Cuevas asked him about cocaine, he put his phone in the pocket of his hoodie, and § 87(2)(b) remained on the line. Neither § 87(2)(b) nor § 87(2)(b) smokes marijuana, and the vehicle did not smell like marijuana for any reason. Before § 87(2)(b) was able to grab his bookbag from the back seat, Police Officer Canady exited the police vehicle and rushed toward him with her hands extended toward him. § 87(2)(b) took one or two steps backwards away from Police Officer Canady. Without saying anything, Police Officer Canady grabbed § 87(2)(b)’s left wrist and used her forward momentum to place § 87(2)(b)’s back against a fence. Sergeant Cuevas told Police Officer Trimarchi to search § 87(2)(b)’s vehicle, and Police Officer Trimarchi searched the passenger side of the vehicle’s back seat. Police Officer Trimarchi did not find anything in the vehicle, and the officers released § 87(2)(b) without a summons.

§ 87(2)(b) stated that she heard § 87(2)(b) say, “Don’t touch me. Don’t touch me.” § 87(2)(b) believed § 87(2)(b) put the phone in his pocket because she heard a “shuffling” sound. She did not believe she was on § 87(2)(b)’s cell phone’s speakerphone at this moment, but she noted she was previously on her vehicle’s Bluetooth speakerphone.

Lieutenant Hirsch stated that as the officers drove down Jerome Street, they saw approximately three people, whom they believed were together, on the sidewalk next to a parked car with the rear passenger door open. As they drove toward the people, the odor of marijuana became stronger. One of the other officers notified Lieutenant Hirsch that § 87(2)(b) removed something from either the front of his waistband or his jacket and threw it into the vehicle, though Lieutenant Hirsch did not observe this himself. Lieutenant Hirsch did not recall seeing § 87(2)(b) or the other two civilians with him carrying anything, and he did not see anyone who appeared to be smoking. The officers decided together to investigate the scene. Lieutenant Hirsch did not give any specific instructions or commands to the other officers during the incident. Police Officer Trimarchi stopped the police vehicle, and Police Officer Canady and Sergeant Cuevas got out and approached § 87(2)(b). The other two civilians observed the ensuing interaction and were not approached by the officers. At some point, Police Officer Trimarchi and Lieutenant Hirsch exited the police vehicle. Lieutenant Hirsch stood about three to five feet behind the other officers. As Police Officer Trimarchi approached the car, § 87(2)(b) attempted to push past Police Officer Canady and Sergeant Cuevas, raised his voice, cursed, and told Police Officer Trimarchi he couldn't look through his car. Police Officer Canady grabbed § 87(2)(b)'s wrist, walked him back from the curb to the fence, and told him to not interfere with the investigation. Police Officer Trimarchi opened the door, and Lieutenant Hirsch stood by the fixed rear window and used his flashlight to illuminate the vehicle as Police Officer Trimarchi searched the vehicle from the rear passenger-side door. Police Officer Trimarchi informed Lieutenant Hirsch that there was a small amount of marijuana in the back seat. Lieutenant Hirsch could only see the back of the headrests and did not see any marijuana in the vehicle. The officers decided to warn and admonish § 87(2)(b) for the marijuana because his unit generally does not give summonses for small amounts of marijuana.

Police Officer Canady stated that as the officers drove by, § 87(2)(b) locked eyes with them and appeared nervous. His wide-eyed expression suggested to Police Officer Canady that § 87(2)(b) "was caught." § 87(2)(b) who was alone, threw what appeared to be a small pill bag of marijuana into the back seat of the vehicle. The police vehicle's windows were rolled down, and Police Officer Canady could not smell anything as Police Officer Trimarchi drove toward § 87(2)(b) nor did she have any reason to believe § 87(2)(b) consumed marijuana. Police Officer Canady exited the police vehicle "to make sure what [she] saw was what [she] saw," but she did not get the chance to do so because as she approached § 87(2)(b) he put his hand in his waistband (under his shirt, above his crotch area). Police Officer Canady's experience suggested to her that § 87(2)(b) could have possibly been carrying a gun in his waistband. Police Officer Canady could not see anything that § 87(2)(b) may have been holding in that area. She believed it to be a gun because "usually, people who carry guns, that's one of the places they hold it, and the positioning of his hand led [her] to believe it might be a gun." Police Officer Canady did not have any other reason to believe that § 87(2)(b) was holding a gun. § 87(2)(b) walked backwards on the sidewalk away from his car and toward a gate. Police Officer Canady said, "Police," and grabbed the wrist of the arm in § 87(2)(b)'s waistband. Police Officer Trimarchi searched § 87(2)(b)'s vehicle and said he found a bag of marijuana. Police Officer Canady did not see the marijuana after § 87(2)(b) initially threw it into the vehicle. Lieutenant Hirsch and Sergeant Cuevas used their discretion and decided to not confiscate the marijuana or summons § 87(2)(b) for the marijuana.

Sergeant Cuevas stated that as the officers drove by, § 87(2)(b) looked at the police vehicle for a second or two before looking down, grabbing an object from his person and throwing it into the back seat. Sergeant Cuevas could not clearly see the object that § 87(2)(b) threw into the vehicle, or where § 87(2)(b) had grabbed the item from, but he suspected that it might be a weapon because the object was approximately five inches long and looked rigid and dark. Police Officer Canady exited the vehicle and approached § 87(2)(b). She leaned her head towards the vehicle to try and see what § 87(2)(b) had thrown into the back seat, and as she did this, she extended her arms outwards to create space between § 87(2)(b) and the vehicle. § 87(2)(b) did not step away but instead grabbed both of Police Officer Canady's forearms. Police Officer Canady grabbed § 87(2)(b) back, and she and Sergeant Cuevas moved § 87(2)(b) toward the fence. Police Officer Trimarchi searched the vehicle for a few seconds before saying that there was “a pound” of marijuana in the back seat. Sergeant Cuevas’ back was towards Police Officer Trimarchi during the search, and he did not see the marijuana. Sergeant Cuevas believed that the amount of marijuana in § 87(2)(b) s possession was beyond the violation amount. Sergeant Cuevas made the decision to let § 87(2)(b) go because § 87(2)(b) had marijuana, which was not what the officers were looking for.

Police Officer Trimarchi stated that as he drove down Jerome Street, he saw § 87(2)(b) and another male standing by § 87(2)(b) s vehicle, and as he got closer, § 87(2)(b) reached into his waistband, pulled something out, and tossed it into the back seat of the car through the rear passenger door. From his vantage point Police Officer Trimarchi could not see what § 87(2)(b) had pulled out, but since this behavior was consistent with someone possibly concealing a weapon, he decided to stop the police vehicle and investigate. The rear passenger door of the vehicle was open, and Police Officer Trimarchi saw a small amount of marijuana in the back seat in plain view. He did not recall what kind of container the marijuana was inside. There was no notable odor or any indication that either of the men had consumed marijuana. Police Officer Trimarchi searched the immediate area in the rear of the vehicle to ensure that all of the contraband was located, and he did not see what was happening outside the vehicle as he searched it. There was only a small, violation amount of marijuana in the vehicle. The officers released § 87(2)(b) with a warning. Police Officer Trimarchi did not vouch for the marijuana.

An officer may stop and detain an individual if he or she has reasonable suspicion that the individual has committed, is committing, or is about to commit a crime. People v. DeBour, 40 N.Y.2d 210 (1976) (Board Review 10).

An individual in a high-crime area, who has a weighted-down bulge in his pocket, changing course after noticing officers, blading his body as an officer approaches him, and attempting to block the officer’s hand from touching the bulge, only provides the officers with founded suspicion and, in totality, does not create the reasonable suspicion necessary to stop the individual People v. Gerard, 942 N.Y.S.2d 112 (2012) (Board Review 11).

Under the general automobile exception, an officer must have probable cause to believe that a vehicle contains evidence or contraband in order to conduct a warrantless search of the vehicle. Officers may also conduct a limited search of a vehicle to retrieve a weapon if they reasonably believe that the weapon poses an immediate threat to their safety. Once the individual has been removed from the vehicle and no longer has access to the weapon inside the vehicle, this exception no longer applies People v. Torres, 74 N.Y.2d 224 (1989) (Board Review 12).

Allegation (G) Force: Sergeant Gabriel Cuevas used a chokehold against § 87(2)(b)
Allegation (H) Force: Sergeant Gabriel Cuevas restricted § 87(2)(b)'s breathing.
Allegation (I) Force: Sergeant Gabriel Cuevas used physical force against § 87(2)(b)

§ 87(2)(b) stated that as Police Officer Canady and Sergeant Cuevas held him against the fence, he verbally protested Police Officer Trimarchi's search of his vehicle. Sergeant Cuevas then grabbed the front of § 87(2)(b)'s neck with his right hand, lifted § 87(2)(b) off the ground with one hand, and choked § 87(2)(b) against the fence for approximately five to ten seconds. § 87(2)(b) could not breathe at all and made wheezing/choking noises while Sergeant Cuevas choked him. Two days after the incident, § 87(2)(b) felt aches in his neck, and the following day, he saw marks on the left side of his neck. § 87(2)(b) went to § 87(2)(b) where he received a scan and was told his neck showed signs of abrasions.

A photograph provided by § 87(2)(b) (Board Review 13) shows what appears to be abrasions or scratch marks on the left side of his neck.

§ 87(2)(b)'s medical records from § 87(2)(b) (Board Review 14) state that he informed the staff that officers pushed him against a gate and lifted him by his neck, and that he came to the hospital with neck pain that had worsened since the incident. The medical records indicate that § 87(2)(b) had some neck rigidity, but he did not have any bruises or marks on his neck.

§ 87(2)(b) stated that she heard § 87(2)(b) say, “Don’t touch me. Don’t touch me.” § 87(2)(b) believed § 87(2)(b) put the phone in his pocket because she heard a “shuffling” sound. A male told § 87(2)(b) to stop touching him, and § 87(2)(b) and the male went “back and forth” telling one to stop touching the other. This was the only thing § 87(2)(b) heard the male say. § 87(2)(b) believed they were “tussling” because she could hear the phone “going back and forth” or “rocking” in § 87(2)(b)’s pocket. This sound lasted approximately 60 to 90 seconds. The day after the incident, § 87(2)(b) noticed dark marks on § 87(2)(b)’s neck. § 87(2)(b) went to § 87(2)(b) but he did not complain of any pain or discomfort to § 87(2)(b).

Sergeant Cuevas denied grabbing § 87(2)(b) by his neck and lifting him off the ground, and neither Police Officer Canady nor Lieutenant Hirsch recalled seeing Sergeant Cuevas do so. Police Officer Trimarchi did not see what happened outside the vehicle while he searched it. None of the officers knew what could have caused the injury depicted in the photograph provided by § 87(2)(b).

§ 87(2)(g)

Allegation (J) Abuse of Authority: Sergeant Gabriel Cuevas refused to provide his name to

§ 87(2)(b)

Allegation (K) Abuse of Authority: Sergeant Gabriel Cuevas refused to provide his shield number to § 87(2)(b)

Allegation (L) Abuse of Authority: Sergeant Gabriel Cuevas failed to provide § 87(2)(b) with a business card.

Allegation (M) Abuse of Authority: Lieutenant Forrest Hirsch failed to provide § 87(2)(b) with a business card.

§ 87(2)(b) stated that after he was released, as the officers hurried back toward their vehicle, he requested their names and shield numbers, directing this request toward Sergeant Cuevas, but no officer responded. § 87(2)(b) was “enraged” and “loud enough to wake the whole block.” None of the officers offered § 87(2)(b) a business card.

§ 87(2)(b) stated that she heard § 87(2)(b) say, “I want your badge numbers, I want to know what precinct you work for.” § 87(2)(b) made this request several times. § 87(2)(b) did not hear anyone respond.

Sergeant Cuevas stated that § 87(2)(b) asked him for his name and shield number, and that he provided this information to § 87(2)(b). Sergeant Cuevas did not recall if § 87(2)(b) asked any other officer for this information. Sergeant Cuevas asked § 87(2)(b) if he wanted a business card, but § 87(2)(b) yelled and cursed and the officers and possibly did not hear him. Sergeant Cuevas believed that the other officers also offered their business cards, but he was not sure if any of them gave him one. Sergeant Cuevas walked away without leaving his business card and entered the police vehicle so as not to escalate the situation. The other officers followed suit and they drove away.

Lieutenant Hirsch did not recall § 87(2)(b) requesting any officer’s name or shield number.

None of the officers offered § 87(2)(b) their business cards. Lieutenant Hirsch did not offer § 87(2)(b) his business card because he did not directly interact with § 87(2)(b)

Police Officer Canady stated that § 87(2)(b) did not ask her or any other officer for their name or shield number. Police Officer Canady did not recall whether she or any other officer offered or provided a business card to § 87(2)(b)

Police Officer Trimarchi stated that § 87(2)(b) did not ask him for his name or shield number, and he did not recall whether § 87(2)(b) asked any other officer for this information. Police Officer Trimarchi did not give his business card to § 87(2)(b) or recall any other officer doing so.

According to NYC Administrative Code 14-174, officers must offer a business card to any individual with which they conduct a law enforcement activity, such as a stop or a vehicle search, at the conclusion of any such activity that does not result in an arrest or summons (Board Review 28).
