1. Little v. City of New York et al, 150722/2014, settled for $15,000 in 2015, ending litigation in Richmond County Supreme Court.

In the cases that settled, a stipulation of settlement and order of dismissal with prejudice was filed with the respective court, indicating, in sum and substance, that nothing in the settlement shall be construed as an admission or concession of liability by any of the defendants or the City of New York regarding any of the allegations made by the plaintiffs in their complaints, or that any of the plaintiffs' rights under the Federal or New York Constitutions or Statutes had been violated.

A review of the officer's CCRB history revealed the following:

1. On December 8, 2017, Detective Golat had a substantiated CCRB complaint for improper search of premises. He was given formalized training.

The People reserve the right to move in limine to preclude reference to this information, or otherwise to object to its use or introduction into evidence during trial.
