Synopsis

On April 17, 2003, at approximately 12:30 AM, § 87(2)(b) Melinda § 87(2)(b) was sitting in her car, which was parked near the corner of 169th Street and Clinton Avenue in the Bronx. A group of officers approached her and asked her to get out of the vehicle. § 87(2)(b) did not comply. PO Anthony Demonte, who the complainant identified from his nametag and the summonses he later issued her, opened § 87(2)(b)'s car door and pulled her out of the car. § 87(2)(b) struggled briefly with PO Demonte, telling him to take his hands off of her. Another unidentified officer intervened and separated them. PO Demonte then issued § 87(2)(b) two summonses, one for disorderly conduct and the other for an unspecified VTL violation.

§ 87(2)(b) also alleged a second incident, which took place on April 15, 2003, at approximately 12:00 AM at the same location. She claimed that an unidentified officer approached her vehicle and requested her driver's license and registration. § 87(2)(b) questioned the officer as to why he was asking for her identification. He responded that if she did not provide the requested information, he would physically remove her from her vehicle.

§ 87(2)(b) originally filed her complaint with the Internal Affairs Bureau on April 17, 2003. The case was forwarded to the CCRB on April 23, 2003. On April 28, 2003, § 87(2)(b) was contacted via telephone. She scheduled an interview at the CCRB for May 1, 2003 at 9:00 AM. § 87(2)(b) failed to appear for her interview. Following her missed appointment, two letters were sent to her home, which instructed her to call the CCRB. In addition, three telephone calls were made to her home. § 87(2)(b) failed to contact the CCRB. § 87(2)(g)
