Case Summary

On August 21, 2020, § 87(2)(b) filed the following complaint with IAB over the phone with original log number § 87(2)(b). It was received at the CCRB on September 14, 2020.

On August 21, 2020, at approximately 10:00 p.m., in the vicinity of § 87(2)(b) in Queens, PO Rocco Colletti, PO Frank Bauers, PO Michael Rizzo, PO Alyssa Smith, PO Giancarlo Pineda, PO Austin Munro, PO Mandeep Cheema, PO Giuseppe Divanna, PO Derek McGuinness, and Sergeant Battcher, responded to a call about an intoxicated man, § 87(2)(b) threatening people in the neighborhood with a baseball bat. Sergeant Battcher determined that § 87(2)(b) should be removed to the hospital (Allegation A: Abuse of Authority (Forcible removal to hospital): § 87(2)(g) PO Colletti said to § 87(2)(b) “Back up, back the fuck up!” (Allegation B: Discourtesy (Word): § 87(2)(g) He pushed § 87(2)(b) backwards causing her to hit her head on the door to her house (Allegation C: Force (Push): § 87(2)(g) PO Colletti, PO Smith, PO Pineda, PO Bauers, PO Divanna, pulled § 87(2)(b) off the railing to his house and carried him to an ambulance at the end of the street (Allegations D-H: Force (Dragged/pulled): § 87(2)(g) An officer allegedly pushed § 87(2)(b) on her upper shoulder (Allegation I: Force (Push): § 87(2)(g) PO Colletti said to § 87(2)(b) “Cut the fucking shit, cut the fucking shit. Cut the shit. Cut the fucking bullshit. What the fuck is the matter with you?” (Allegation J: Discourtesy (Word): § 87(2)(g) PO Bauers said to § 87(2)(b) “Act like an animal pal, you get treated like one.” (Allegation K: Offensive Language (Race—Other Race): § 87(2)(g) and Allegation L: Discourtesy: Word: § 87(2)(g)

Body-worn camera footage was received for PO Munro, PO Rizzo, PO Pineda, PO Smith, PO Bauers, PO Cheema, PO Colletti, PO Divanna, PO McGuinness, and Sergeant Battcher (Board Review 11-21). Cell phone footage was also provided, (Board Review 31)

Findings and Recommendations

Allegation (A) Abuse of Authority: Sergeant George Battcher forcibly removed § 87(2)(b) to the hospital.

§ 87(2)(b) was interviewed over the phone on September 16, 2020 (Board Review 01). § 87(2)(b) was interviewed over the phone on September 29, 2020 (Board Review 02). § 87(2)(b) was interviewed on October 5, 2020 (Board Review 03). PO Colletti was interviewed on January 27, 2021 (Board Review 04). Sergeant Battcher was interviewed on February 23, 2021 (Board Review 05). PO Bauers was interviewed on April 29, 2021 (Board Review 06). Additional officers were not interviewed because their statements would not change the recommended dispositions.

§ 87(2)(b) stated that the officers told him that they were going to take him to the hospital, but he did not know why they were taking him to the hospital. He tried to run inside of his house, however, the officers placed him into handcuffs. He held onto the railing of the stairs by wrapping both of his legs around the railing and buckling his legs. The officers grabbed and pulled on § 87(2)(b) to get him off the grate. He sustained at least five bruises on his arms and legs. Three to four officers, § 87(2)(b) was unsure which officers, lifted him up on his arms and legs and carried him to an ambulance on the corner of the street.

§ 87(2)(b) stated that the officers told § 87(2)(b) that they were going to take him to the hospital and that he was, “Intoxicated.” She did not think that he was intoxicated and thought that he only had a few beers to drink. She did not think that her father did anything wrong that evening. The officers attempted to pull § 87(2)(b) away from the railing of the house that he was clutching onto with his arms. The officers picked § 87(2)(b) up by his arms and legs and carried him to an ambulance on the street.

§ 87(2)(b) stated that four officers picked up § 87(2)(b) and carried him to an ambulance. He pushed against the officers, yelled at them, and said that he was not going anywhere. Another officer told § 87(2)(b) that § 87(2)(b) needed to go to the hospital, and he did not tell her why he needed to go.

Sergeant Battcher stated that his patrol team received numerous 911 calls of § 87(2)(b) in the street harassing and threatening people possibly with a weapon like a baseball bat or a gun. Officers, including PO Pineda, PO Smith, PO Colletti, PO Bauers, PO Rizzo, and PO Munro arrived before him. When he arrived, § 87(2)(b) was in handcuffs and had wrapped his legs around the railing of the stairs leading to his house. § 87(2)(b) was clearly intoxicated and was unable to care for himself. He thought that § 87(2)(b) was intoxicated because of the way he was acting, because he had watery bloodshot eyes, and because he smelled like alcohol. Sergeant Battcher did not recall seeing any containers of alcohol near § 87(2)(b). Sergeant Battcher thought he was a danger to himself and the others who called 911. EMTs were present on scene, but Sergeant Battcher did not recall having a conversation with them. He did not recall hearing the EMTs determine that § 87(2)(b) had to go to the hospital. He thought that § 87(2)(b) was removed to the hospital based on what he and the EMTs observed. PO Smith untied and removed § 87(2)(b) legs from the railing. The officers, including PO Colletti and PO Bauers, picked § 87(2)(b) up and carried him to the ambulance.

PO Colletti stated that there were officers and two EMTs were standing around § 87(2)(b). PO Colletti asked the other officers what was happening, and they told him that § 87(2)(b) was intoxicated, verbally threatening his family, and that EMS said that he was good to be taken to the hospital. He did not recall the reason why EMS said he was good to go to the hospital. If EMS deems that someone needs to go to the hospital, then he would assist them in getting that person to the hospital because they are medical professionals. § 87(2)(b) and his family did not want § 87(2)(b) to go to the hospital. Sergeant Battcher was on scene during this incident. He did not remember if Sergeant Battcher spoke with EMS about bringing § 87(2)(b) to the hospital. EMS determined that § 87(2)(b) needed to go to the hospital prior to the officers removing him from the railing.

PO Bauers's statement was generally consistent with that of Sergeant Battcher and PO Colletti (Board Reviews 06).

PO Smith's body-worn camera captured a portion of this incident (Board Review 11, 15). At 04:10, she approaches a man and asks if § 87(2)(b) chased him with a bat. He confirms that § 87(2)(b) chased him with a bat. She walks back towards the stoop. At 04:55, PO Smith tells the family that § 87(2)(b) is going to the hospital. The collective BWC footage also corroborated Sergeant Battcher's statement that § 87(2)(b) had his arms and legs wrapped a railing and was generally refusing to cooperate with instructions and physically resisting.

Detailed EVENT § 87(2)(b) (Board Review 32) showed a male caller reporting that a black male in a white t-shirt and shorts threatened him and that he had called officers earlier, but they drove by without stopping. The EVENT notes no weapons or injuries. The TRI Supervisor's Assessment report prepared by Captain Antonia Fidacaro of the 102nd Precinct notes that officers responded to a report of harassment and encountered § 87(2)(b) who was visibly intoxicated and Emotionally Disturbed. Officers subsequently removed him to the hospital.

The investigation sent § 87(2)(b) HIPAA forms to the address that he provided to the CCRB in order to access his medical records from this incident and forms were returned as undeliverable (Board Review 07).

While Sergeant Battcher was not the first officer to arrive on scene, the forcible removal allegation was only pleaded against him as he confirmed he was the supervisor on scene and made the ultimate decision to remove § 87(2)(b).

According to Patrol Guide Procedure 221-13, when a uniformed member of service reasonably believes that a person who is apparently mentally ill or emotionally disturbed, the person must be taken into protective custody when the person is conducting themselves in a manner likely to result in serious injury to themselves or others (Board Review 23).

According to Patrol Guide Procedure 216-01, when a civilian requires medical aid for any reason, including mental illness, officers must cooperate with ambulance and hospital personnel in every reasonable manner (Board Review 08).

While it was disputed as to whether EMS made the ultimate decision to transport § 87(2)(b) to the hospital, because Sergeant Battcher had information that § 87(2)(b) was intoxicated and chasing people around on the street with a bat, § 87(2)(g)

Allegation (B) Discourtesy: Police Officer Rocco Colletti spoke discourteously to § 87(2)(b)

§ 87(2)(b)

Allegation (C) Force: Police Officer Rocco Colletti used physical force against § 87(2)(b)

§ 87(2)(b) stated that PO Colletti said, “Fuck off” and, using one hand, pushed § 87(2)(b) on her chest near her shoulders. § 87(2)(b) fell backwards and hit her head on the side of the front door. Her head hurt and she felt dizzy. She felt so dizzy that later that evening, she fell again. § 87(2)(b) went to § 87(2)(b) Hospital later that evening to get her head checked out. They took X-Rays of her head and told her that there were no fractures or anything to be worried about. She was discharged from the hospital that same evening.

§ 87(2)(b) stated that § 87(2)(b) came out of the house and yelled at the officers, “Leave my fucking father alone.” PO Colletti pushed § 87(2)(b) with his right hand and said, “Fuck off of here.” § 87(2)(b) did not see where PO Colletti pushed § 87(2)(b) on her body and only saw her fall backwards. § 87(2)(b) hit her head on the door and fell backwards into the house onto her bottom and on her side.

§ 87(2)(b) stated that his daughter, § 87(2)(b) stepped out of the house and began to cry. She held onto § 87(2)(b) and would not let go. PO Colletti cursed at and pushed § 87(2)(b) backwards. § 87(2)(b) did not see the push or hear any cursing, however, § 87(2)(b) told him that one of the officers pushed § 87(2)(b) and cursed at her.

PO Colletti recalled § 87(2)(b) daughter, § 87(2)(b) clinging onto § 87(2)(b) while the officers were trying to pull him off the railing. PO Colletti said to § 87(2)(b) “Get the fuck back.” He used profanity in the heat of the moment to get § 87(2)(b) to get back. PO Colletti did not push § 87(2)(b) back causing her to fall and hit her head on the door to the house. PO Colletti did not know if Sergeant Battcher or any other officers pushed § 87(2)(b) back.

PO Colletti's body-worn camera footage captured this portion of the incident in its entirety (Board Review 11, 18). At 02:30, § 87(2)(b) is seen yelling and holding onto § 87(2)(b). At 02:44, PO Colletti says, "Back up, back the fuck up," to § 87(2)(b). At 02:50, he begins pulling on § 87(2)(b) legs to remove him from the gate. § 87(2)(b) continues to hold onto § 87(2)(b). At 02:53, § 87(2)(b) grabs onto one of § 87(2)(b) legs and pulls toward the doorway and PO Colletti quickly removes her arm from his leg. She then loses her balance trips and falls backwards towards the house door.

The TRI Supervisor's Assessment report was generally consistent with the BWC (Board Review 32).

According to Patrol Guide Procedure 200-02, the police department must maintain a higher standard of integrity than is generally expected of others because so much is expected of them. The police department must value human life, respect the dignity of each individual, and render their services with courtesy and civility (Board Review 09).

According to DCT Case Law 2017-17276, language which would ordinarily be inappropriate in dealing with civilians may be excused in the course of a violent confrontation (Board Review 33).

Because PO Colletti was giving § 87(2)(b) a lawful command to back up because she was holding onto § 87(2)(b) and preventing the officers from removing him to the hospital, § 87(2)(g)

§ 87(2)(b)

§ 87(2)(b)

Despite PO Colletti stating that he did not push § 87(2)(b) back, based on the BWC footage the investigation determined that § 87(2)(b) pulled on § 87(2)(b) leg and PO Colletti removed her hand from his leg causing her to lose balance and fall backwards toward the house door.

According to Patrol Guide Procedure 221-01 (Board Review 10), when appropriate and consistent with personal safety, members of the service will use de-escalation techniques to safely gain voluntary compliance from a subject to reduce or eliminate the necessity to use force. In determining whether the use of force is reasonable, members of service should consider the following: A. The nature and severity of the crime or circumstances, B. Actions taken by the subject, C. The duration of the action, D. The immediacy of the perceived threat or harm to the subject, members of service, and/or bystanders, E. Whether the subject is actively resisting custody, F. Whether the subject is attempting to evade arrest by flight, G. Number of subjects in comparison to the number of MOS, H. Size, age, and condition of the subject in comparison to the MOS, I. Subject's violent history, if known, J. Presence of a hostile crowd or agitators, K. Subject apparently under the influence of a stimulant/narcotic which would affect pain tolerance or increase the likelihood of violence.

Prior to PO Colletti removing § 87(2)(b) arm from § 87(2)(b) leg, the officers spent several minutes calmly speaking to § 87(2)(b) and the other civilians attempting to gain their voluntary cooperation with removing him to the hospital. During this time, § 87(2)(b) had his legs wrapped around the stairway railing and § 87(2)(b) stood right next to him. Following a lack of cooperation, the officers began to remove § 87(2)(b) legs from the stairway railing while he physically resisted by moving his legs around. While they did this, § 87(2)(b) loudly yelled that the officers would not take § 87(2)(b) and repeatedly grabbed § 87(2)(b) in spite of multiple instructions to step back. Immediately prior to falling down, the BWC showed that § 87(2)(b) placed her hand on § 87(2)(b) knee and pulled him toward the doorway. PO Colletti, who struggled to maintain control of § 87(2)(b) leg, then quickly removed § 87(2)(b)

§ 87(2)(b) hand from § 87(2)(b) leg, which caused her to lose her balance and fall backward.

§ 87(2)(g)

Allegation (D) Force: Police Officer Rocco Colletti used physical force against § 87(2)(b)

Allegation (E) Force: Police Officer Frank Bauers used physical force against § 87(2)(b)

Allegation (F) Force: Police Officer Giancarlo Pineda used physical force against § 87(2)(b)

Allegation (G) Force: Police Officer Alyssa Smith used physical force against § 87(2)(b)

Allegation (H) Force: Police Officer Giuseppe Divanna used physical force against § 87(2)(b)

§ 87(2)(b) held onto the staircase leading up to his house by wrapping and buckling both of his legs around it. The officers grabbed and pulled him off the grate. He sustained at least five bruises on his arms and legs. Three to four officers lifted him up on by his arms and legs and carried him to an ambulance on the corner of the street.

§ 87(2)(b) and § 87(2)(b) statements were generally consistent with that of § 87(2)(b)

PO Colletti stated that § 87(2)(b) was clinging onto the railing to the stoop of the house with his arms and his legs and refusing to leave. After EMS determined that § 87(2)(b) needed to go to the hospital, PO Colletti and other officers approached § 87(2)(b) and removed his arms and legs from the railing using the appropriate amount of force to pull him away from the railing. He did not remember if anyone gave him instructions to pull § 87(2)(b) off the railing.

PO Bauers stated that § 87(2)(b) resisted being taken to the hospital by wrapping both his arms and legs around the staircase banister leading up to the house. The officers, including PO Bauers, used the minimum amount of force to remove § 87(2)(b) arms and legs from the banister and pull him off the banister. § 87(2)(b) was actively trying to remain on the banister as the officers were attempting to pull him off. He did not recall how many officers were attempting to remove him from the banister. The officers, including PO Bauers, carried § 87(2)(b) to a stretcher.

Sergeant Battcher's statement was generally consistent with that of PO Colletti and PO Bauers (Board Review 05).

PO Colletti's body-worn camera footage captured this portion of the incident in its entirety (Board Review 11, 18). At 01:20, § 87(2)(b) is seen handcuffed and clinging onto the railing of the stoop with his arms and legs. He tells the officers multiple times that he is not going to the hospital while screaming and cursing at them. At 02:50, PO Colletti, PO Bauers, PO Pineda, PO Smith, and PO Divanna begin pulling on § 87(2)(b) legs to remove him from the railing. They successfully remove him from the railing and carry him to the ambulance at the end of the street.

According to Patrol Guide Procedure 221-01 (Board Review 10), when appropriate and consistent with personal safety, members of the service will use de-escalation techniques to safely gain voluntary compliance from a subject to reduce or eliminate the necessity to use force. In determining whether the use of force is reasonable, members of service should consider the following: A. The nature and severity of the crime or circumstances, B. Actions taken by the subject, C. The duration of the action, D. The immediacy of the perceived threat or harm to the subject, members of service, and/or bystanders, E. Whether the subject is actively resisting custody, F. Whether the subject is attempting to evade arrest by flight, G. Number of subjects in comparison to the number of MOS, H. Size, age, and condition of the subject in comparison to the MOS, I. Subject's violent history, if known, J. Presence of a hostile crowd or agitators, K. Subject apparently under the influence of a stimulant/narcotic which would affect pain tolerance or increase the likelihood of violence.

§ 87(2)(g) it was determined that § 87(2)(b) needed to be removed to the hospital and § 87(2)(b) was actively resisting being removed by clinging onto the railing leading up to his house, § 87(2)(g)

Allegation (I) Force: An officer used physical force against § 87(2)(b)

§ 87(2)(b) stated that officers brought § 87(2)(b) to an ambulance. § 87(2)(b) asked § 87(2)(b) to pick up his phone from the ground and § 87(2)(b) did. An officer pushed § 87(2)(b) on her back-right shoulder with his elbow. She did not sustain any injuries.

§ 87(2)(b) stated that officers picked up § 87(2)(b) and carried him to an ambulance on the street. An officer, using his elbow, pushed § 87(2)(b) on her back while they were carrying § 87(2)(b) to the ambulance.

PO Colletti, PO Bauers, and Sergeant Battcher did not see an officer nor did they themselves push § 87(2)(b) on her upper-right shoulder region using their elbow. None of them heard § 87(2)(b) complain of being pushed.

Body-worn camera from all the officers did not capture this allegation (Board Reviews 11-21)

§ 87(2)(g)

Allegation (J) Discourtesy: Police Officer Rocco Colletti spoke discourteously to § 87(2)(b)

Allegation (K) Offensive Language: Police Officer Frank Bauers made remarks to § 87(2)(b) based upon race.

Allegation (L) Discourtesy: Police Officer Frank Bauers spoke discourteously to § 87(2)(b)

§ 87(2)(b) and § 87(2)(b) did not allege to the investigation that either PO Colletti or PO Bauers spoke discourteously to § 87(2)(b). These allegations were captured on body-worn camera footage.

PO Colletti said to § 87(2)(b) "Cut the fucking shit. Cut the shit. Cut the fucking bullshit. What the fuck is the matter with you?" PO Colletti said these things in the heat of the moment to be assertive to get § 87(2)(b) to calm down. He did not know if using profanity was effective. PO Colletti did not say to § 87(2)(b) "Act like an animal, you get treated like one." He did not hear another officer say this to § 87(2)(b).

PO Bauers did not recall saying to § 87(2)(b) “Act like an animal pal, you get treated like one.” He did not recall hearing other officers say this to § 87(2)(b). He did not recall hearing another officer say to § 87(2)(b) “Cut the fucking shit, cut the shit, cut the fucking bullshit. What the fuck is the matter with you?”

PO Colletti’s body-worn camera footage captured this incident in its entirety (Board Review 11, 18). At 03:05, PO Colletti says to § 87(2)(b) “Cut the fucking shit.” He carries § 87(2)(b) to the ambulance with multiple other officers. At 03:23, PO Bauers says, “Act like an animal pal, you get treated like one.” At 03:30, PO Colletti says, “Cut the fucking shit. Cut the shit. Cut the fucking bullshit.” At 03:45, he says, “What the fuck is the matter with you?” They place § 87(2)(b) onto the stretcher.

PO Bauers’s body-worn camera footage captured this incident in its entirety (Board Review 11, 16). PO Bauers assists the other officers in pulling § 87(2)(b) off the railing. He helps carry § 87(2)(b) to the ambulance at the corner of the street. At 03:20, someone says, “Act like an animal, that’s why you get treated like one.” PO Colletti says, “Cut the fucking shit, cut the shit.” “Cut the fucking bullshit.” At 03:45, PO Colletti says, “What the fuck is the matter with you?” They place § 87(2)(b) onto a stretcher.

PO Bauers’s body-worn camera footage was played for him during his interview from 03:00 until 03:57 (Board Review 11, 16). The video did not refresh his independent recollection of the incident. He did not recognize the voice that said, “Act like an animal pal, you get treated like one.” He did not know whose voice it was.

Despite PO Bauers’s denying that he said, “Act like an animal pal, you get treated like one,” the investigation determined that based on his body-worn camera footage and the volume of the voice saying this statement, that PO Bauers was the officer who said to § 87(2)(b) “Act like an animal pal, you get treated like one.”

According to Patrol Guide 200-02, The police department must maintain a higher standard of integrity than is generally expected of others because so much is expected of them. The police department must value human life, respect the dignity of each individual, and render their services with courtesy and civility (Board Review 09).

According to Patrol Guide Procedure 203-10, officers are prohibited from using discourteous or disrespectful remarks regarding another person’s ethnicity, race, religion, gender, gender identity/expression, sexual orientation, or disability (Board Review 22).
