

Lorenzo's home. CCRB recommended that the detective lose twenty-five days of vacation.

ii. [REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

However immediately following the arrest, the detective was suspended for approximately thirty days without pay, and reinstated following the suspension period.

- iii. Following an Internal Affairs Bureau investigation approximately in 2015, the Detective was found to have improperly used a department computer, by searching a relative's history within New York City Police Department computer system. As a result of the investigation the detective received a command discipline of one day of vacation.