Synopsis

§ 87(2)(b) filed a complaint with IAB on January 25, 2006 by telephone. § 87(2)(b) alleges that on January 24, 2006, Officer Anthony Salato approached her son, § 87(2)(b) on Hempstead Avenue and Springfield Boulevard in Queens and said, “Hey you piece of shit, how’s your brother,” referring to § 87(2)(b). In his February 1 statement, § 87(2)(b) provided a different version of the complaint, saying that Officer Salato referred to him as a “piece of shit scumbag.”

On February 1, 2006, the CCRB left a please call message for § 87(2)(b) and called § 87(2)(b) who asked to be called a later time. The CCRB sent a please call letter to § 87(2)(b) and called him again on February 1 and obtained a telephone statement. An interview appointment was set for February 2. On February 2, § 87(2)(b) missed his CCRB appointment without calling to cancel beforehand. On February 2, when the CCRB called § 87(2)(b) to schedule a new appointment, § 87(2)(b) stated that he was “too aggravated” to set a new appointment and abruptly hung up the telephone. A missed appointment letter was sent on February 2. When the CCRB called § 87(2)(b) on February 3 to set a new appointment, § 87(2)(b) said “not now” and abruptly hung up the telephone. The CCRB called § 87(2)(b) on February 6 and left him a please call message, informing him that his case would be closed without an investigation if he did not contact the CCRB by February 8. § 87(2)(b) called the CCRB on February 6 and was told that § 87(2)(b) needed to call the CCRB by February 8 or his case would be closed. § 87(2)(b) has not responded to these messages.

On § 87(2)(b), § 87(2)(b) filed a different complaint against Officer Salato that was closed by the CCRB as victim uncooperative. § 87(2)(b)
