CCRB Testimony

On August 18, 2010, § 87(2)(b) was interviewed at the Anna M. Kross Center (encl. 4A-D). On July 10, 2010, around 12:01 a.m., § 87(2)(b) and his friend, § 87(2)(b) (last name unknown), drove in § 87(2)(b) black Durango jeep to a gas station located at 21st Street and 37th Avenue in Queens. § 87(2)(b) pulled into the front of the gas station, parked the car and § 87(2)(b) got out. § 87(2)(b) went to a hotel (name unknown) next to the gas station down to meet his friend § 87(2)(b) (full name unknown).

§ 87(2)(b) gave § 87(2)(b) 80 dollars in exchange for marijuana. § 87(2)(b) went back inside the hotel. As § 87(2)(b) was walking away from the hotel back towards the gas station, he noticed an unmarked minivan following him with its lights on, so he started speed walking.

§ 87(2)(b) walked into the gas station parking lot and Det. Clifton Clark, identified via investigation¹ came out of the gas station and screamed, “He’s over there!” § 87(2)(b) ran towards § 87(2)(b) vehicle, which was still parked in front of the gas station. § 87(2)(b) jumped into the front, passenger side window of § 87(2)(b) vehicle and screamed for § 87(2)(b) to start the car. § 87(2)(b) was hanging slightly out of the window. § 87(2)(b) started the car and was about to put the jeep in shift when Det. Clarke ran in front of the vehicle and pointed his gun directly at the windshield and told him not to move.

§ 87(2)(b) jumped back out of the window and ran back towards the gas station. He ran inside the gas station and then ran back outside of the gas station. § 87(2)(b) started running back towards the hotel on 21st Street. Another mini van with Det. Bulone (operator) and Det. Zuccaro (passenger), both identified via investigation², pulled up next to § 87(2)(b) on his left side.

As § 87(2)(b) ran, the van drove beside him. Det. Zuccaro opened the passenger side door as they were driving and the door knocked § 87(2)(b) on the left side of his arm. § 87(2)(b) fell down and quickly got back up. The van swerved to the right and pulled in front of § 87(2)(b) so that he could not run forward. § 87(2)(b) turned around and started running back towards the gas station, but four white, male detectives were blocking him. These officers had their guns out and told § 87(2)(b) to freeze.

One of the detectives tried to grab § 87(2)(b) but he missed him. Finally, the officers tackled § 87(2)(b) to the ground and handcuffed him. While the officers were handcuffing § 87(2)(b) and after they handcuffed him, they punched him for about one minute, during which § 87(2)(b) felt blows against his head and body. § 87(2)(b) believed that the officers were hitting him with small objects but he did not see these small objects. He thought he was hit with small objects because the blows felt strong. § 87(2)(b) was face down on the ground so he could not see which officer conducted which action, but he believed all four officers, along with Det. Zuccaro, were beating him.

The officers stood § 87(2)(b) up and immediately called an ambulance. § 87(2)(b) was bleeding on the right side of his eye. During the struggle, § 87(2)(b)'s pants, which were too large for him, had fallen to the ground, so § 87(2)(b) was standing with only his boxer briefs on. Det. Zuccaro slid his hand around the elastic part of § 87(2)(b)'s boxer briefs in the front. One of the officers § 87(2)(b) did not know which one) said that he smelled marijuana on § 87(2)(b). Another detective told Det. Zuccaro that the drugs were in the flap pocket in the front of § 87(2)(b)'s boxer briefs. This was true but the marijuana was not visible to the outside, so § 87(2)(b) did not know how the officers knew this. At no point during the struggle did § 87(2)(b) put anything into his boxer briefs; the marijuana was already there.

Det. Zuccaro pulled the front of § 87(2)(b)'s boxer briefs out about four inches and looked inside. § 87(2)(b)'s private parts were exposed to Det. Zuccaro's eyes at this point. Det. Zuccaro reached outside of § 87(2)(b)'s boxer briefs and pulled a couple bags of marijuana out of the his front flap. Det. Zuccaro did not feel § 87(2)(b) in his private part, but immediately took the bags of marijuana out. The officers also recovered the buy money in § 87(2)(b)'s jeans. § 87(2)(b) did not know what happened with § 87(2)(b). § 87(2)(b) did not think he got arrested.

¹ § 87(2)(b) described Det. Clarke as a black male, 5'4" tall, heavyset, and in his forties or fifties.

² § 87(2)(b) described the detectives as white males in their forties or fifties with gray hair.

The ambulance did not show up, so after about 20-30 minutes, two detectives drove § 87(2)(b) to § 87(2)(b) where § 87(2)(b) received five stitches to the gash in his head. § 87(2)(b) also sustained scrapes and bruises to his body for which he was given an X-Ray.

Civilians not Interviewed

§ 87(2)(b) was unable to provide the investigation with § 87(2)(b) full name or his contact information.

Memo Book

Detective Pecorella had the following memo book entry regarding the incident: At 1:10 a.m., one under at the corner of 38th Avenue and 20th Street.

CCRB Testimony

On September 3, 2010, Detective Kevin Pecorella was interviewed at the CCRB (encl. 5A-D). The detectives were part of a buy-and-bust operation. The undercover made a buy with § 87(2)(b) near 38th Avenue and 21st Street. § 87(2)(b) started running south on 21st Street towards Shell gas station and the detectives in the chase van, Bryan Zuccaro and John Bulone, followed him in their vehicle. The detectives in the prisoner van, Darrel Julien and Clifton Clarke, were also following § 87(2)(b) in their vehicle. At one point, Det. Clarke got out and started running after § 87(2)(b) on foot. Det. Pecorella did not see Det. Clarke with his gun out. No other officer had his gun out.

§ 87(2)(b) jumped in the passenger side window of a black SUV which was parked at the gas station. The driver inside the vehicle pushed him out and § 87(2)(b) started running north on 21st Street. The chase van (with Det. Zuccaro and Det. Bulone) pulled in front of § 87(2)(b) and blocked him from running further. Det. Pecorella's van also did a U-turn and started going towards § 87(2)(b) in order to block him in. Det. Zuccaro never opened his van door against § 87(2)(b) and § 87(2)(b) did not fall down. When the chase van pulled in front of § 87(2)(b) he turned back around and ran directly into Det. Clarke. Both men collided heads and fell to the ground backwards. The field team moved in to assist Det. Clarke.

Det. Zuccaro, Det. Bulone and Det. Sanabria struggled with § 87(2)(b) as he resisted by throwing his arms in the air, pushing and kicking. Det. Pecorella ran out of his van and assisted them. The officers did not punch § 87(2)(b) but tried to hold him on the ground. Det. Pecorella did not use any small objects and neither did any other officer. At no time did Detective Pecorella have his gun out.

§ 87(2)(b)'s pants fell down during the struggle exposing his boxers and Detective Pecorella pulled them up. One of the detectives (Detective Pecorella did not know which one or if it was him) conducted a search incident to arrest to find the buy money and drugs. Detective Pecorella did not remember where the buy money and drugs were found, but he believed they were found in § 87(2)(b)'s pocket. Det. Pecorella did not pull the front part of § 87(2)(b)'s boxers out and look inside at his private parts. He did not see any other detective conduct this action.

§ 87(2)(b) was taken to § 87(2)(b) where he received stitches to his head. Detective Clarke was also treated at § 87(2)(b) for injuries to his head.

Subject Officer: DETECTIVE BRYAN ZUCCARO

- Det. Zuccaro is a white male, 5'6" tall, 180lbs, § 87(2)(b) with hazel eyes.
- On July 10, 2010, Det. Zuccaro worked from 8:27 p.m. to 5:00 a.m. the following day, was assigned to the Chase Car, worked with Det. Bulone, dressed in plainclothes and was the recorder of the unmarked police vehicle.

Memo Book

Detective Zuccaro had the following memo book entry regarding the incident: At 1:10 a.m., one under at 38th Avenue and 21st Street. At 1:20 a.m., 98 (present on scene) at § 87(2)(b)

CCRB Testimony

On September 14, 2010, Detective Zuccaro was interviewed at the CCRB (encl. 6A-E). § 87(2)(g) He added the following information.

When § 87(2)(b) started running away from the gas station, Det. Zuccaro and Det. Bulone drove beside him. The detectives pulled in front of the § 87(2)(b) in order to block him from running further; the van never touched § 87(2)(b). The detectives stopped the van and Det. Zuccaro opened the passenger side door in order to jump out. § 87(2)(b) ran up and pushed the door closed with both hands. § 87(2)(b) did not fall down. § 87(2)(b) turned around, ran back towards the Shell gas station and ran directly into Det. Clarke; both men collided heads and both fell backwards into each direction.

§ 87(2)(b) tried to jump back up, but Det. Clarke grabbed § 87(2)(b)'s ankle so that he could not get away. § 87(2)(b) jumped up and Det. Zuccaro and other detectives ran towards him and brought him to the ground. Det. Zuccaro never drew his gun. § 87(2)(b) struggled by rolling around on the ground and flailing his arms. Det. Zuccaro did not punch § 87(2)(b) but held down his leg.

While § 87(2)(b) was running, he was shedding his clothes; Det. Zuccaro assumed that he was trying to change his appearance. After being handcuffed, Det. Zuccaro noticed that § 87(2)(b)'s pants had fallen down. Det. Zuccaro did not search § 87(2)(b) incident to arrest; he assumed that Det. Pecorella searched him because he was the arresting officer. Det. Zuccaro did go with § 87(2)(b) to the hospital, so he assumed that he searched § 87(2)(b) before taking him to the hospital, but he did not remember. Det. Zuccaro never pulled the front part of § 87(2)(b)'s boxers out and looked inside at his private parts. Det. Zuccaro did not see any other detective conduct this action. Narcotics and buy money were found on § 87(2)(b) but Det. Zuccaro did not know where they found because he was not the detective who discovered them.

- Det. Bulone is a white male, 6' tall, 260lbs, § 87(2)(b) with brown hair and brown eyes.

§ 87(2)(b) ran towards Shell gas station and jumped into a civilian's vehicle which was parked at the gas station. It appeared as though the civilian has just finished getting gas. § 87(2)(b) screamed for the civilian to drive. This was a safety concern for Det. Clarke because § 87(2)(b) had placed a civilian into danger. Also, § 87(2)(b) was threatening the civilian to drive, so Det. Clarke was concerned § 87(2)(b) had a gun. Det. Clarke pointed his gun at § 87(2)(b) and told him to get out of the vehicle. § 87(2)(b) jumped out of the vehicle, and as soon as he got out, Det. Clarke put his gun down.

Investigative Findings and Recommendations

Allegation A – Abuse of Authority: Det. Clarke pointed his gun at § 87(2)(b)

All parties agree that § 87(2)(b) jumped inside the passenger side window of an SUV that was parked at the gas station and screamed for the driver to move. Det. Clarke testified that this was a safety concern because § 87(2)(b) had placed another civilian in danger.

In the Police Department v. Gliner OATH Index No. 955/00 (2000) (encl. 1A-V), the policy of the Police Department is such that an officer can draw his firearm and point it at another person so long as he has a reasonable fear for his own or another's personal safety. The Department permits an officer a broad discretion to display his weapon whenever he feels that his life or the life of another is endangered. § 87(2)(g)

Allegation B – Force: Det. Bryan Zuccaro struck § 87(2)(b) with a vehicle.

§ 87(2)(b) alleged that, as he ran away from Shell gas station, the chase van drove next to him on the left side. Det. Zuccaro opened the passenger side door as they were driving and the door knocked § 87(2)(b) on the left side of his arm. § 87(2)(b) fell down and got back up. The van swerved to the right and pulled in front of § 87(2)(b) so that he could not run forward, so § 87(2)(b) turned around and started running back towards the gas station, where he ran into more officers.

Det. Zuccaro and Det. Bulone, however, testified that they were driving on the left side of § 87(2)(b) and then they pulled in front of him in order to block him from running further. They came to a stop and Det. Zuccaro opened the passenger side door in order to jump out of the car. § 87(2)(b) ran up and pushed the door closed with both hands; he did not fall down. The entire field team corroborates that § 87(2)(b) did not fall down at this point. § 87(2)(b) turned around and ran into Det. Clarke; they both fell to the ground.

§ 87(2)(b) did not sustain any injuries as a result of making contact with the door. § 87(2)(g)

Allegation C – Force: Officers pointed their guns at § 87(2)(b)

All parties agree that § 87(2)(b) fled the scene, ran into a gas station, jumped into a civilian's vehicle and continued to flee. § 87(2)(g)

In the Police Department v. Gliner OATH Index No. 955/00 (2000), the policy of the Police Department is such that an officer can draw his firearm and point it at another person so long as he has a reasonable fear for his own or another's personal safety. The Department permits an officer a broad discretion to display his weapon whenever he feels that his life or the life of another is endangered. § 87(2)(g)

Allegation D – Force: Det. Clifton Clarke used physical force against § 87(2)(b)

Allegation E – Force: Det. Kevin Pecorella used physical force against § 87(2)(b)

Allegation F – Force: Det. Bryan Zuccaro used physical force against § 87(2)(b)

Allegation G – Force: Det. John Bulone used physical force against § 87(2)(b)

Allegation H – Force: Det. Joeselyn Sanabria used physical force against § 87(2)(b)

§ 87(2)(b) testified that, after running from the detectives, four of them brought him to the ground and punched him for about one minute, during which § 87(2)(b) felt blows to his face and body. § 87(2)(b) believed that the officers were hitting him with small objects because the blows felt severe, but he did not see these small objects.

The detectives testified that § 87(2)(b) ran directly into Det. Clarke; both men collided heads and both fell backwards into each direction. Det. Clarke grabbed § 87(2)(b)'s ankle so that he could not get away, but § 87(2)(b) jumped up. Then Det. Pecorella, Det. Zuccaro, Det. Bulone and Det. Sanabria brought him to the ground and struggled with him; they did not punch him or use small objects.

§ 87(2)(g)

According to the NYPD Patrol Guide, section 203-11 (encl. 1X-Y), officers should only use the amount of force necessary to overcome resistance. § 87(2)(g)

Allegation I – Abuse of Authority: Det. Bryan Zuccaro strip-searched § 87(2)(b)

All parties agree that § 87(2)(b)'s pants fell down during the struggle. § 87(2)(b) alleged that Det. Zuccaro pulled the front of § 87(2)(b)'s boxer briefs out about four inches and looked inside exposing § 87(2)(b)'s private parts to Det. Zuccaro. Then Det. Zuccaro pulled out a couple bags of marijuana out of the front flap of § 87(2)(b)'s boxers.

Det. Zuccaro denied looking inside § 87(2)(b)'s boxers but stated that he might have searched him before going to the hospital. Det. Pecorella, the arresting officer, also denied looking inside § 87(2)(b)'s boxers but stated that he could have searched him incident to arrest. Det. Julien believed the drugs were found in the top, front part of § 87(2)(b)'s boxers but he did not conduct the search.
